

The Great Time Machine Race

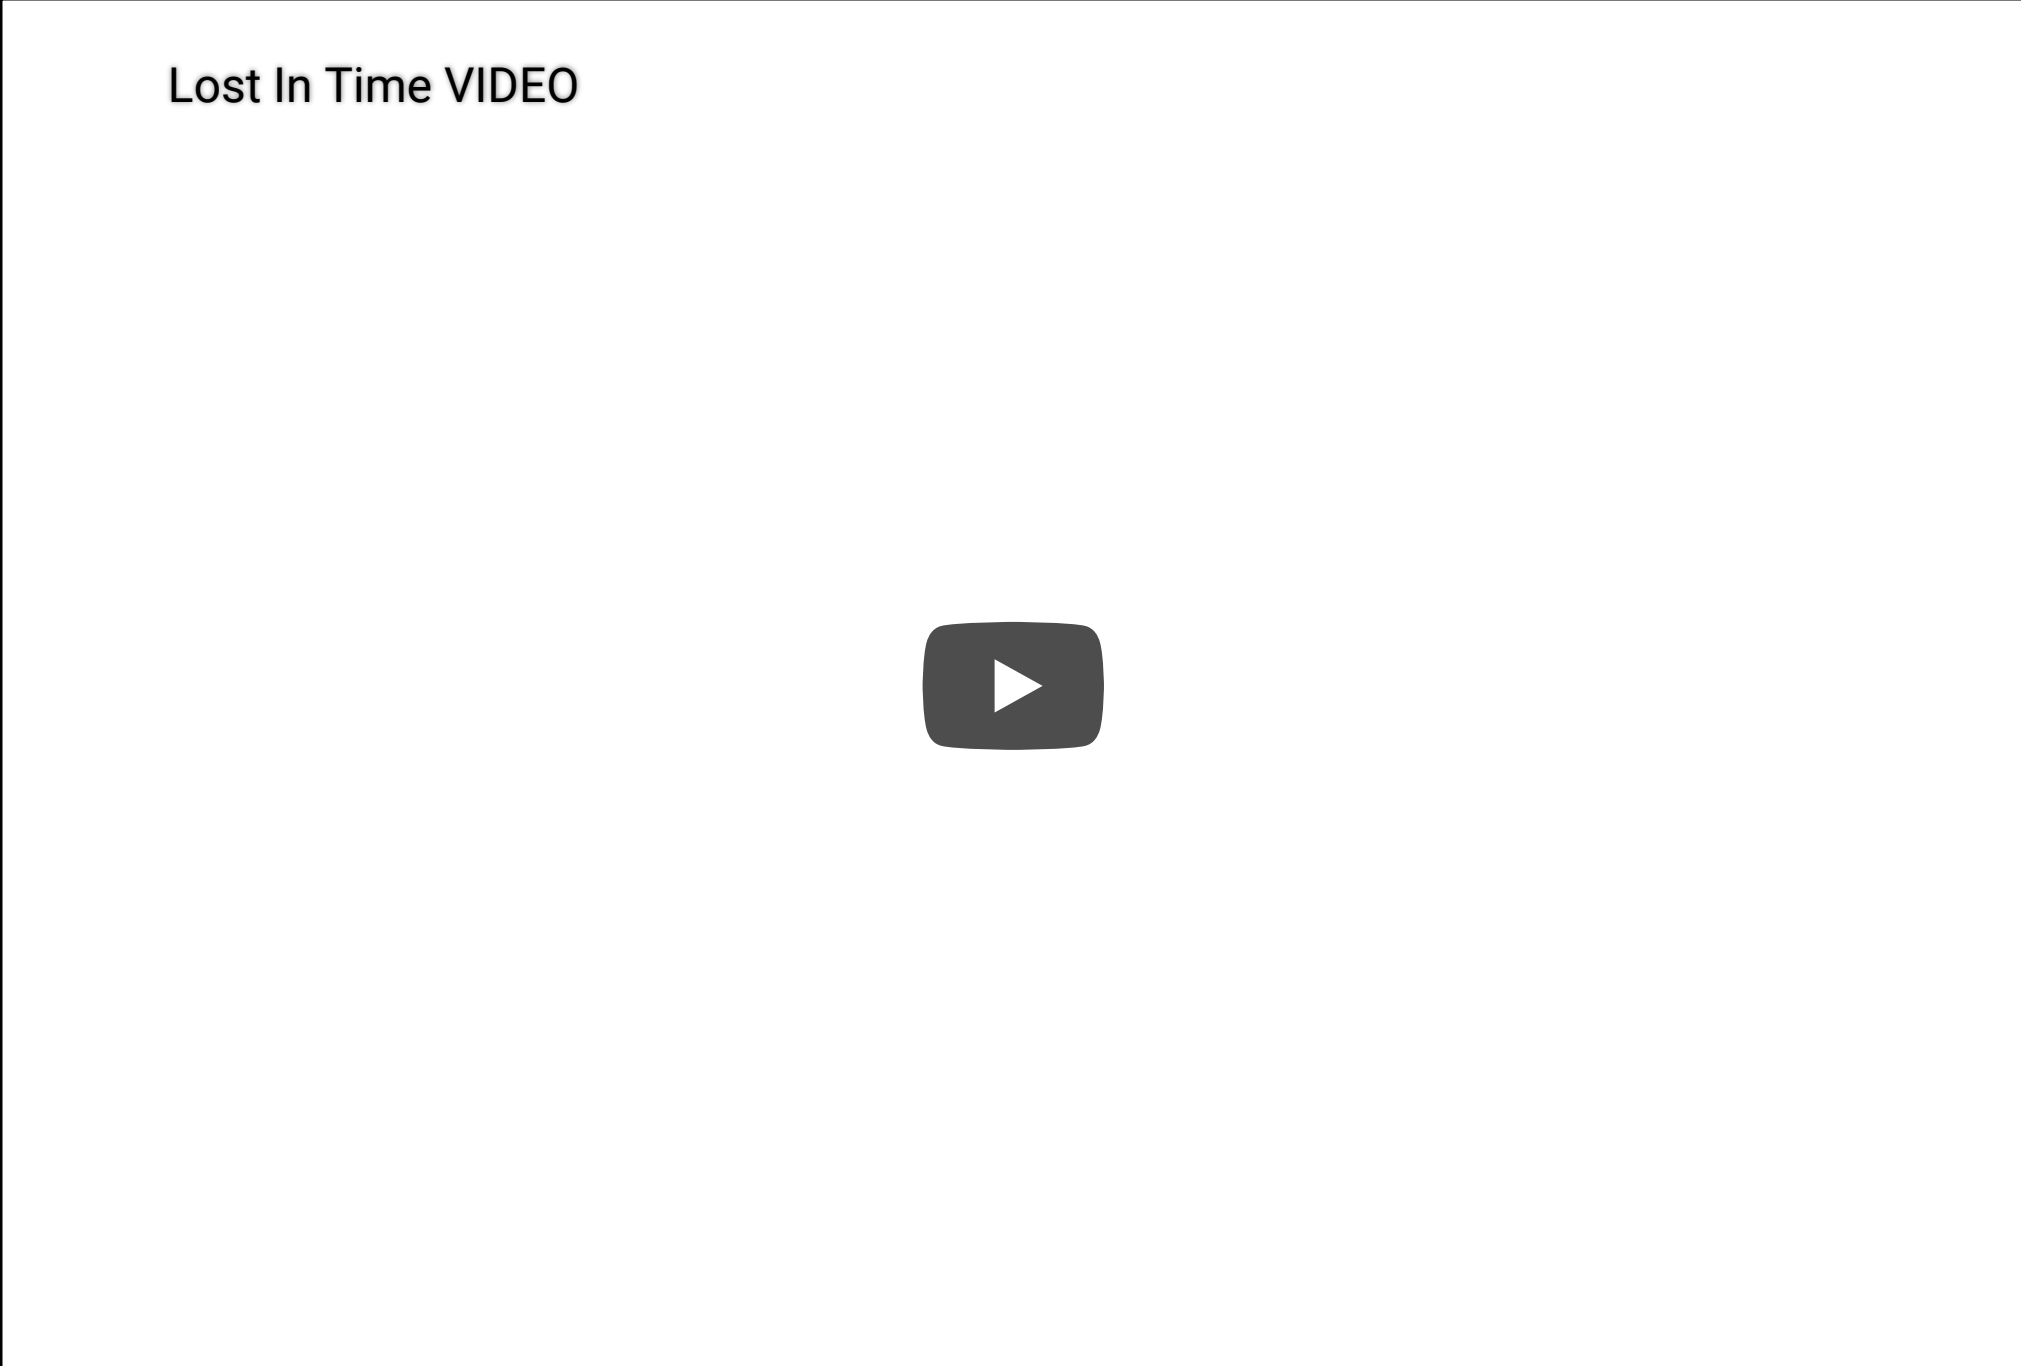

WELCOME TO THE OFFICIAL WEB SITE FOR THE RACE TO CREATE THE 1ST TIME MACHINE!

Since the year 2000, two men have been working in areas of physics with intentions that were once thought to be the realm of science fiction - the ability to manipulate time! Marshall Barnes, R&D Eng was working in the area of electromagnetic field theory with the idea of effecting time with specially synthesized electromagnetic fields. Meanwhile, Ronald L. Mallett, PhD had developed a theory of a rotating ring laser that could create enough of a gravitational field that it could twist space and time. In 2007 the two actually met after Marshall had success in determining, with the help of Fred Alan Wolf, PhD that his research had resulted in the first functioning prototype for a warp drive. Marshall produced several events for Mallett, who was promoting his book, Time Traveller: A Scientist's Personal Mission To Make Time Travel A Reality. However, this year, after Mallett had still failed to raise enough money to build an actual working prototype, Marshall decide to take the obvious step to see if his invention, the STDTS, could be the engine for a time machine. After Mallett turned down his offer to become involved with his project, and other scientists and engineers supported his idea to test a new configuration based on torsion physics, Marshall proceeded and got positive, initial results.

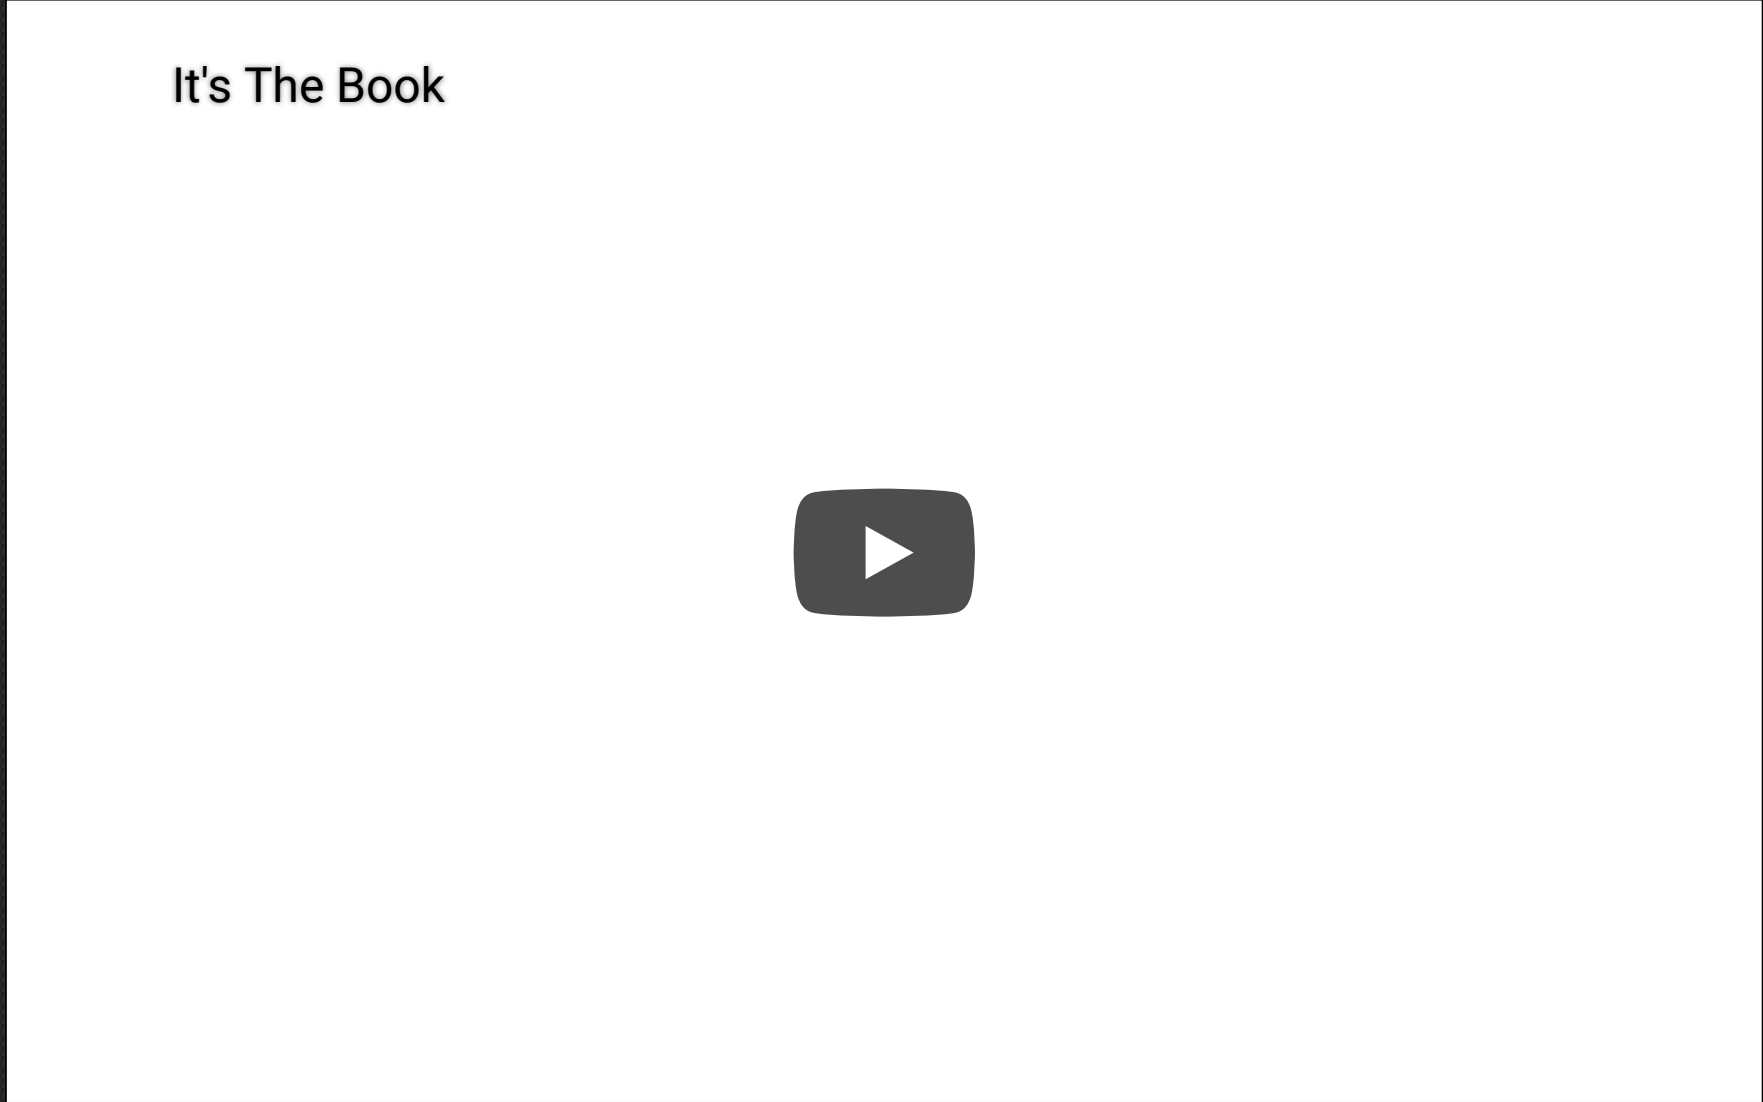

Now the race is over - Marshall Barnes won! Now Marshall works to scale up his machine, the Verdrehung Fan(TM) to the level required to become a large scale time machine! This is the official site, not only for the race of all time, but all the latest information on time travel. Be sure to check back often! WE'LL HAVE MORE! (Speaking of "more", always check the "More" listing on our menu bar above for additional pages that we'll be adding!)

THIS IS IT! Marshall Barnes has WON against Ronald Mallett in the race to build a time machine and has his Verdrehung Fan(TM) in a rock video to prove it. Below see the world sneak premiere of Ben Porter's Lost In Time rock video with many more surprises than you can imagine including the details of Marshall's STUNNING VICTORY!
